These regulations depend on climate change as a fact and that climate change is man made. The truth is Earth's atmosphere is continually changing from year to year and season to season and has experienced many warming and cooling periods. You have not made the case. You should be more concerned about a climate cooling. These regulations are extreme, and totalitarian. They remind me of covid mandates. This is a politically driven ideology which I oppose. Why not skip the climate change dogma and address crime and corruption? Those are the real threats.
