

Philip Lane

Our economy is failing as prices rise through the roof which compromises the entire US economy. Placing more short sided legislation will only serve to make the current economic climate worse and only make inflation worse. I am plum sick and tired of irresponsible foolish decision making by the very institutions, legislators and legislative bodies who have no concern for the very public they supposedly serve! EV vehicles in the long run will do precious little for the environment as the mining and processing of the very raw materials they require cause more harm then gas powered vehicles.