

Royal Waldock

How can we mandate a ban fossil fuel engines when the electrical power grid cannot support the additional the demand required for charging batteries as California has shown and No one in government has addressed the 60,000 people performing slave labor to harvest the materials to manufacture the batteries as well as large amounts of hazardous materials to dispose of within a few short years.