

Ron de Ru

I am opposed to The Department of Ecology's yet another extreme proposal. My family and I are not in favor of the sweeping and harmful mandate for zero emission vehicles (ZEVs) for Washington consumers and a ban on new gasoline-powered vehicles! Production and disposal of these batteries does a great deal of harm during the mining process not to mention the problem of disposing them when they are no longer useful. I'm concerned that proponents are somehow benefiting financially from payoffs from producers of such things.