I am not for this as we are retired and barely drive 5000 miles each year on our cars. A road trip has become very expensive and we are keeping the cars we have until our children take our keys away. We will not be able to afford a new car. I've had enough of the environmental ideas which includes tax increases which is hurting middle income families and retired. Why doesn't Wa state become more creative that many seem to pride themselves on being...this is not smart!
