

Michael Holzman

Please tell me why those who have the ability to make Washington more user friendly to its residents always seem to make life harder for the middle-class working people? The legislature of this state needs to try "walking a mile in our shoes once in a while.