

Ted Cooke

So called "zero emission cars" rely heavily on fossil fuel to extract toxic chemicals from the earth. They are much worse than simply fossil fuel; changing a battery is a toxic waste site. If cars are stuck on a snowy pass for 24 hours and everyone has been forced into electric vehicles, many people will freeze to death and it will take weeks to free up the highway as individual cars must be towed or charged in place using gasoline powered generators. The government subsidies and rare earth minerals force a situation where every car sold strengthens the economy of the world's chief communist threat, China, and indebts us to them allowing them to buy up more of our properties and businesses. And finally we must consider that fossil fuels are by far the best tool for both climate mastery and human flourishing. There is no need to eliminate fossil fuel use and every prediction & model of the heavily Socialist influenced UN for the past 30 years has been completely disproven. Stop this madness. Stop making these anti-human, anti-American, anti-freedom mandates. Let economic freedom continue to help us master climate and flourish as free individuals.