I have only heard of shutting down all fossil fuel energy production including the removal of dams that create hydro generated power. Nothing of how power will be generated that can be 100% reliable. Let everyone know what it takes to mine the resources to manufacture batteries and efficient recycling and disposal of old batteries. Who stands to be wealthy from the Green New Deal? It's not the general public, contrary to the information that is being repeated over and over. Let's manage our forests, cut fire breaks use a reasonable amount of trees for housing instead of watching it all burn and telling the naive people the wild fires are all due to climate change. Thank you for reading some reality here.
