

Glavde Larsen

It is unrealistic to mandate electric cars based on the schedule in the ZEV mandate when the infrastructure isn't in place for them to get "fuel" (electricity). Also, nothing we do is going to dramatically effect climate until India, China, and Russia start doing something to control omissions.