

Richard Fogle

Mandating EV sales without either the infrastructure to support them, or the EV's themselves have similar capabilities to their fossil fueled counterparts is irresponsible at best, possibly criminal. I do hereby oppose any such mandate and urge you to do likewise.