Stop trying to make us California. This is ridiculous. The batteries used in electronic vehicles have a short life span, and they are polluting our environment & making China rich while China continues to destroy the earth. Poor people cannot afford these super expensive vehicles, and they are not powerful enough for Farmers equipment & Truck hauling. There is not enough electrical generation to support this! We have an abundance of natural gas, water power, & oil. Stop this destructiveness! wind & solar can never fill the gap. solar panels are extremely expensive & only have a 20 year lifespan, wind power has the same lifespan & is also extremely expensive & unreliable, not to mention killing thousands of birds per month & being an eyesore on the landscape as well as noisy. They are polluting the environment with the burial sites for the broken windmill parts which cannot be recycled. with a lack of electrical generation to support this you also want to tear down the dams? will we all be sitting in the dark while some people are charging their cars ? please stop this insanity !
