

Jeffrey Conner

Until you get the electrical grid fixed throughout all of Washington, it isn't going to work making people buy electric cars, Hell, 95 percent of the people living in Washington can't afford an electric car let alone a new car, you people need to start using your heads for something other than raising the taxes on everything, we can't afford those either.