

Shane Robley

The EV mandate and gas engine ban are unrealistic and unfair, will cost billions to implement and will unfairly penalize rural communities and working families. Infrastructure currently can not support this and could cost millions to upgrade. True cost of electric car manufacturing and maintenance is not "greener" with current technology.