This is wonderful. We are passing tipping points that will lead us into climate chaos. Any action we can take to reduce fossil fuel use will help. I drive a 2015 Volt which I love. We try to keep our mileage low so we don't have to burn gas. I only wish that my utility, PSE, did not burn coal to make electricity. We have got to move past the fossil fuel age. Electric cars make sense. They are so much more efficient. They don't waste all that energy on heat. They do not need so many repairs. They are quiet. They don't create ozone. I fully support this transition.
