

Stephen J Turner

Cart before the horse. You condemn the continued use of fossil fuels and the people that depend on them. You punish your citizens while never providing us an infrastructure which provides a viable immediate and and minimally disruptive transition. Your empty promises and disruptive headlong rush to be woke is breaking the back of your people. Wise up, think it through and provide leadership rather than feel good mandates.