

Raymond Roeder

Do Not Do This!!! It's a bad idea because it is not feasible. Consider what this will do to automobile sales and service across the State. Consider the amount of pollution required to build and dispose of batteries for these EV's. Where are we going to bury all these used batteries? Consider the impact of rural drivers in the State. Consider the amount of electricity that will be required to charge these EV's. Every home would essentially have to be retrofitted to include a charging station. Consider the cost and availability for ALL residents of the State to be able to purchase a vehicle. I could go on and on about how crazy this is.

Nothing should be mandated. If it's a good idea, everyone will jump on board voluntarily.