

TYLER FOLSOM

This is totally the right way to go. I have been driving electric in the city since 2015. I appreciate that I am essentially paying $1 a gallon instead of $6 and am not contributing to climate change. I look forward to replacing my second car (hybrid) with a new extended range electric car.