

David Franklin

Please stop playing idealistic politics and consider how we must get the infrastructure in place before we eliminate gasoline engine vehicles and natural gas heating. I think you would stockup on groceries before you banned farmers. You clearly have not done your homework and are not looking at what has already happened to prices for everything since this mindless regulatory zeal has started.