

Doug Myers

This new HFC proposal only accomplishes one thing. That is making it even more expensive to live in Washington. While the reduction in pollutants sounds impressive in fact it will not make any impact on climate change. Washington alone and the USA cannot make an impact until and unless other countries do the same thing which is not now nor will in the future going to happen.