

Pamela W. Elicker

In Madison, Wisconsin the gases from the landfills have been captured to run the city's cars, originally. Now they sell the gas to a company that uses it to to make electricity or fuel for vehicles. Could this be done in our state, at some of the larger landfills?