

Jim Adcock

Jim Adcock, last name A-D-C-O-C-K. I am an independent rate payer, electrical engineer, long time participant in IRP processes and things like that. My comments are I want to caution that we all like markets but that doesn't necessarily mean that they are actually going to save money, and we need to be aware of that possibility. For example, power might just flow to high price markets, namely California. Or there can be unforeseen regulatory distortions. Or there can be market collusions and there can be utilities which are not in fact properly regulated to work in the best public interest. We need to be aware of these problems and we need to fix them as soon as they show up and not sit on our hands hoping for the best. Thank you very much. Bye bye.
