Matty Lauder

Microsoft should not be using any kind fossil fuel energy production. We let them build their giant data centers, give them tax breaks, let them use our public roads, our public water infrastructure, and so much more. They make billions of dollars with our data and resources, the LEAST they can do is find a less carbon-intensive and pollutive way to power their server farm.