

Lea Kent

I oppose permitting more diesel generators for this data center project. Increasing fossil fuel generation capacity is contrary to the State's climate commitments and is entirely unnecessary with the broad availability of battery backup technology. Data centers should not routinely be allowed to saddle the environment and communities with dangerous externalities when alternatives are available.