Good morning, Irina.

I have received the PFAS Draft sent out for public comment and am grateful to know that this issue is being addressed. Along with others in my community, I have been active in water quality and quantity issues. Thank you. However, I must say, when I noticed that the draft was over 400 pages long, I couldn't help but wonder if the writers ever considered that this may be a barrier to receiving feedback from the public...let alone how cumbersome a document of this size is for staff at Ecology to have to work with internally who ARE getting paid for their time. I would sincerely appreciate your reply on this.

Thanks and be well,
Marina Kuran
