Michal McAllister

Im reaching out regarding the proposal under Safer Products for Washington related to the regulation of electronics and electrical equipment.

This policy is just wrong for Washington. It could upend everyday life as we know it:
Make it more challenging for product manufacturers to meet flammability requirements
Potentially decrease performance in electronic products

What Washingtonians need are policies that help keep us safe, not policies that could pose greater threats to us. With over 5,000 house fires in our state in 2021, fire risk is a very real concern for families.

Please consider altering this extreme proposal so it doesnt make us less safe and make everyday life harder.