Dear Washington State Department of Ecology,

As an informed environmentally motivated Washington voter and the daughter of a chemist who knows the harm that even a small amount of these chemicals can do, I support the proposed priority chemicals for the focus of Cycle 2 of Safer Products for Washington. I urge you to finalize the proposed list in order to protect the people and wildlife of Washington, our waterways, and our communities from harmful chemicals.

The proposed priority chemicals are widely used, both in consumer products and by workers. Their hazards are well-documented, including hormone disruption, reproductive harm, and cancer, and have far-reaching impacts to sensitive populations such as children and sensitive species such as salmon.

Please finalize the proposed set of priority chemicals to ensure that Safer Products for Washington continues to lead the nation and protect our communities and our environment.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Linda Carroll
