Hello,

I'd like to submit this comment with regard to the AFFF Disposal plan.

Of the five options listed, I believe incineration to make the most sense. My understanding is that if incinerated above certain temperatures the chemicals are broken down and rendered to be completely harmless. Completely harmless should be the desired goal/outcome. If incineration attains that goal the rest is basically a No-Brainer!

I don't believe any of the other four options have any merit!
