

Bill Blake

In scanning the document and comments from mural board regarding the recent December 3rd meeting one thing stood out as missing, but maybe I just missed it. A refence could be included regarding the economic cost of not addressing the impacts of the toxics. Possibly consider including a paragraph of the importance of funding for assessing the cost to the tax payor of not addressing both the acute and chronic impacts of ongoing toxics impacts across many sectors both social and economic. The legislature always appreciates it when people consider the economics associated with the decisions they are asked to make.
