

Linda Carroll

As an informed environmentally motivated voter and the daughter of a chemist who recognized the dangers of PFAS when they were introduced, I welcome the proposed restrictions as important steps in protecting public health, made all the more necessary by the extremely long period for which these compounds endure.