Thank you for considering my comment.

I grew up in Richland, WA; my mother still lives there in my childhood home. I'm worried about both accidental and cumulative exposure to dangerous and toxic elements in the air she breaths and water she drinks. People live in the area surrounding Hanford and its sundry satellite facilities. It's freaky to me that their health and safety is not paramount in these deliberations. Please stop focusing on grout; we all know that it's ultimately a waste of time because only glass encapsulation is safe enough.
