

Guinevere Godsdóttir

Hello,

I am a Seattle resident who is deeply concerned about the ecological disaster currently unfolding at the Hanford Nuclear Site. The United States has been aware of the inevitability, if nothing was done to prevent it, of Hanford becoming a major disaster since at least the 1980s. It did nothing. It was predicted that if nothing was done, radioactive material would leach into the Columbia River by the 2020s. Here we are, it is now too late to prevent the disaster from beginning, but it is not too late to prevent it from getting worse. I urge you to dedicate all available resources to containing, mitigating, and as much as is possible, stopping, reversing, and cleaning up the Hanford nuclear disaster and all its waste, in a safe and responsible manner.

Thank you so much,
