I'm with the organization (inaudible) in Seattle. I'm a volunteer. Our organization was involved with a pipeline project in North Seattle last year and I'm very interested in the rules that we discussed here and I really appreciate the opportunity to provide comment, and it is great to hear the comments that other people are making. In regards to this pipeline upgrade, the Williams company upgraded, it's my understanding. (inaudible for several seconds)...thousand ton threshold--I might have that wrong, but I'm wondering if that kind of project would fall under the purview of this rule. From the description that focuses on (inaudible for several seconds) so in a future session I would appreciate further clarification on that (Inaudible)...that the supervising agency in Snohomish County did not have the capacity to undertake an evaluation of the greenhouse gas effects, so providing them that capability or making it clear that they're (inaudible) So, thanks very much.
