I always look forward to reading all the different comments. This time however, a majority of the comments were the exact wording on the same form letter. These comments were "harvested" and should only be counted/weighed as one comment.

Another common concern in the other letters was if WA DOE has authority to regulate indirect emissions. I thought that part of the Clean Air Rule got thrown out in court last year because of that. It would lead to double counting anyway. The output of one industry maybe the input of another.

Thanks,
