

Jane Lindley

My name is Jane Lindley. I live on Bainbridge Island. I want to say that I agree with the comments from Amanda with Earthjustice, and I also have a question. If the Department of Ecology's GAP rule requires companies to report their methane emissions, how will the rule prevent companies from exploiting loopholes that cause under-reporting of emissions? Loopholes such as emitting, or rather, exempting certain kinds of equipment and activities and practices or relying on estimates rather than direct measurement of emissions from projects. Thank you for your work. I really appreciate it and I look forward to a great rule.
