A couple of points and questions, I just want to put on the record, appreciate the opportunity to comment on the public process you're laying out.

One was I didn't hear the term "major" used or defined, but I believe that was in the Governor's executive order, so I assume that would be something that'll be discussed at a future meeting.

You hear a lot of talk about the upstream and downstream emissions and whether those will be outside in the state, but I assume those discussions would then also include where those mitigations could happen, um whether mitigation could be in state or out of state. I assume that will be in an upcoming topic as well.

And then, thirdly, the Governor's executive order mentioned, specifically, fossil fuel projects and you both used refineries as an example, and yet, as far as the speakers (inaudible) for today, there was nobody representing that industry or that viewpoint, so I just urge you to do that in an upcoming public meeting as well. And that's all I have. Thank you.
