

JAMES BECK

The health of Puget Sound is unsustainable if aquaculture is permitted to continue. The sound cannot disperse the amount of fish fecal material generated by fish in pens. It just accumulates on the bottom of the sound. This is obviously not a healthy situation.