

Rich Fargo

Fish farms impact wild fish populations by transferring disease and parasites to migrating fish. These aquaculture death pens also pollute water systems with excess nutrients and fecal matter due to the large numbers and concentrations of farmed fish. Also equipment used in aquaculture can be problematic to the point of failure. To raise one of the unhealthiest fish to eat in an already fragile ecosystem. I say this is a horrible idea