Ethan Barker

Washington's inland shoreline and the opportunity's for recreation on those shorelines are one of the things that makes Washington an amazing place. I ask that you consider increased access and clarity on shoreline access and use. Unclear rules above beach and tideland access near private property make our inland shorelines a challenge to navigate. Additionally much of the public shorelines in Washington are not easily accessible. Shoreline and tideland access that is not blocked by private property or inaccessible without a boat are not truly public. Thank you for your time and consideration.