I do believe these BESS would be great benefit for the State of Washington to offset the Greenhouse Gas Emissions and to cut our reliance on fossil fuel. I understand there are concern with BESS with solar and wind; however, since majority of our electric power is hydroelectric, is there a safety issue in combining hydroelectric with BESS?

I do believe BESS would be great for those isolated locations and during off-peak seasons (Summer for those with hydroelectric, Winter for those with solar) and help keep the electric bill down.
