Leslie Monicatti

These battery storage centers need to be built in more remote areas where large communities are not at risk of being exposed to dangerous fires and toxins.