I found this site difficult to access or even understand..I doubt you get many comments except biased comments. First enough already! I recycle everything. I cook and we eat our leftovers. I am not going to welcome anymore rats into our neighborhood. MYOB for a while huh? If you don't stop with the everyday telling us what to do well...The progress, you have made will all be for naught. People are sick of it and well I see why. I try so hard to be as organic as possible but here in this state it's never enough. AND Btw how about restaurants and grocery store produce etc. DO they have to do this? Thats your waste right there. Good bye.
