

Claire Ashton

I live at the east end of lake 12. I built my home in 2010 and this is the first I've heard of this prop. 3 times over the last 5 -6 years the water coming from my well was thick green with rust colored chunks floating in it. Each time it's taken a few days of running my pump until the water coming from the well looks clear again. Given the proximity of my location to this contaminated site I'm wondering if this issue is related.
