

Linda King

Recycling household batteries definitely needs to be easier. We used to be able to separate from other recycles & put that bag/container on top of recycle bin so they knew. Next I knew they just dumped it n the street while picking up the bin. I'm not driving to one of the big facilities. At least there should be stores all over to drop them at.