

Jan Wachholz

Washington must build on our recycling progress. Keep food waste clean and on a path to compost or biogas. Keep packaging on a path to recycling, not shredded into a contaminated slurry.

Washington's rules need clear definitions, contamination limits, and policies that prioritize waste prevention, food donation, and maximum diversion of recyclables and organics.

Please keep microplastics and PFAS out of our soil and ecosystem - no proceeding with industrial depackaging.