

Susan Plahn

Please add minimum recycling rates to industrial depackaging standards. Consider adopting standards in line with those being adopted by Vermont.

Allowing plastic and food waste to end up in landfill instead of responsibly separating them for compost and recycling them is the wrong direction for Washington state.

Consumers like myself have been carefully washing plastic food containers and recycling them for years.

The public thinks that is what is happening behind the scenes. Don't violate our trust by throwing it all into the landfill.