This is an important topic, but one critical piece seems to be missing. And that is public education on composting. For this to be successful, there needs to be increased, clear, simple, public education. Picture-based directions on containers and a printable half or quarter page version to put on fridges (with direction to put it on the fridge! so it doesn't just get tossed) would help a lot. Also increase in educating children in particular, such as through a song. In fact the printable could match the song. I've been a researcher on waste management compliance and these go a long way! Thanks
