

Carol Chipman

As a concerned Washington state resident, I am urging the Dept of Ecology to make rules that are clearly defined, have contamination limits, and include policies that prioritize waste prevention, food donation, and maximum diversion of recyclables and organics.

These measures would prevent weakening of the state's food-waste management system and would ensure the state's climate goals.