

Tareq F

No to introducing depackaging process using the current technology. The result is contaminated plastic and contaminated food waste. We would rather see the energy and resources be directed towards separating and sorting at the source