Michael Dimmick

My experiance with recycling has shown me that if it is easy and consistant people will use it. the recycling effort that the goverment needs to address is finding a use for the recycled material. Making all plastic material produced must be made with 50% recycled material and paper products the same. Then as that is accomplished raise it to 60% and so on. Price is what takes cities counties out of the bussness.There are just to many other things that people are paying for and adding another is not favorable. Maybe have the recycling operated, funded and mantained by the state.Leave the cities and counties out of it.