

Victoria Miller

Americans have never paid the true cost of oil and gas production and transportation in this country. Keeping our waterways safe (clean) is a common sense priority, and if the cost per gallon of fuel is slightly increased by doing so, we are willing to bear that expense.